Property Type:	Infill Development Land

Property Overview

The subject property consists of approximately 4.12 upland acres located in the Inlet Beach area of South Walton County, Florida. The property is zoned Neighborhood Infill (NI), which allows between two (2) and eight (8) dwelling units per acre depending on project design and compatibility.

The site features approximately 615 feet of paved road frontage, a rectangular configuration that supports efficient site planning, and is located approximately 1,700 feet from public beach access. Public water and sewer are available at or near the property. The tract is surrounded by newer, higher-end residential development and lies within close proximity to 30A beaches, shopping, dining, and other area amenities.

With its infill location, zoning framework, and physical characteristics, the property represents a well-positioned opportunity for future residential infill development or long-term land investment in Walton County — one of the fastest-growing counties in Florida.
